

Abstract

Granular flame-retardant composition

The invention relates to a granular flame-retardant composition composed of an organophosphorus flame-retardant component and of a binder, to a process for preparing these flame-retardant compositions, and to polymer molding compositions which comprise the flame-retardant compositions.